

SEGWICK GETS IT

Awarded Premium at Trans-Mississippi Exposition.

CORN, WHEAT AND OATS

Commercial Club Gets Its Reward Too.

An authentic notification was received in this city yesterday by C. G. Cohn, president of the Commercial club, from the Kansas commissioners at the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition at Omaha, stating that Sedgwick county had received the award on the Kansas exhibit of ear corn, oats and wheat.

This is a very gratifying fact and amply rewards the farmers of Sedgwick county for their energy in the pursuit of agricultural industry.

The contest at the exposition for supremacy has been very carefully guarded by the state commissioners, and a deal of credit is due to the way they have worked for Kansas to secure its share of the awards justly due the state and to the county where it belonged.

Sedgwick county always was the banner county of the state. Her products have led the world year after year, and it is not surprising to find that the fact has been recognized by the jury of awards.

The efforts put forth by C. G. Cohn and the Commercial club of this city to obtain the premium for Sedgwick county products at the exposition is deserving of credit and should be greatly appreciated by every farmer and merchant in the county whose interests were so ably and successfully handled by the Commercial club members.

At the beginning of the exposition there was a lack of organization, and no one seemed to realize the importance of the necessity of putting forward an extra effort to secure the products of this county for the exhibit.

Some time in the month of August the services of Pat Healy of this city were secured by the Commercial club to bend his best energy to secure for the Sedgwick county exhibit samples of its best products. Mr. Healy's work was untiring and his trips to Omaha were frequent and the country soon got in shape to give its competitors a hot race for the laurels justly due the leading agricultural county of the state. Additional credit is due to President Cohn of the Commercial club of this city for the interesting part he has taken in bringing the importance of the matter before the club, and through his efforts sufficient money to pay all the expenses of Mr. Healy was secured by subscription.

Sedgwick county and Wichita have shown themselves to be leaders before, and have sustained their reputation again.

The following is a copy of the notice sent to citizens of Sedgwick county, in care of C. G. Cohn:

"Office of Kansas Commissioner, Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition, Omaha, Neb., Nov. 3, 1892.

"Dear Sir:—You have been awarded a bronze medal on your exhibit of the Omaha Exposition. The Kansas commission will forward same to you at an early date. The award is for ear corn, oats in straw, and wheat. Yours respectfully, G. W. Glick, J. E. Frost, A. H. Greef, A. W. Smith, A. C. Lamb, Commissioners."

"N. B.—The office of the commission will be at Topeka, Kan., after November 12, 1892."

Yellow Jaundice Cured.
Suffering human should be supplied with every means possible for his relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from Yellow Jaundice for six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hoenery, Lexington, Ky."

Sold by G. Gehring, Druggist.

HEART DISEASE.
SOME FACTS REGARDING THE RAPID INCREASE OF HEART TROUBLES.

Do Not Be Alarmed, But Look for the Cause.

Heart troubles at least among Americans, are certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic heart disease is incurable. But not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by branches of the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way, also, the heart is affected by that form of poor digestion which causes gas and fermentation from half-digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest, caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action. Hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood—makes it thin and watery—which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can best be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation. Such is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which may be found in all drug stores and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. Fully-stated, each of the tablets sold by druggists at 50 cents.

LOCAL TALK.
HE FOUND THE CLERK.

A touring theatrical company, even of the highest class, leads not upon a bed of roses, but there are many funny or odd experiences that serve to make them forget the many discomforts.

Edwin P. Hilton, who owns the latest musical company hit, "The Gay Melodist," which will soon be seen here, told an Eagle man of a "wild western" occurrence that is funny now but was nearly serious then. A number of years ago, while managing one of the then big theatrical successes, which necessitated a company of forty-three people, his route took him into a very hot and unusually prosperous town in the west. The one-train-a-day schedule caused much hustling and annoyance, and it was necessary to get up at all hours of the night to catch the train or lose a night's engagement. Well, from the "camp," as mentioned the hour of departure was 3:45 a. m. Mr. Hilton, who had been working very hard, was thoroughly tired out and needed every possible moment's rest, so at 3:45 he lay down on the bench and fell fast asleep. He was not wakened until the only boy in the place by the way, the charges were $100 per day—made an emphatic request for a sure and positive "call" for himself and all of his company. The dull and sleepy clerk promised faithfully to obey, and inside of three minutes he was sound asleep. No call was heard, but luckily he grew restless, turned over, looked at his watch, and saw it was 2:30 a. m. While awake in a moment, he fairly rushed into his clothes and like a wild man flew out of the hotel and toward the depot, where the conductor was just starting his train. Tracks, threats and entreaties finally won a few seconds' grace, and back rushed Hilton to awaken his company. On the way he met subterfuge, leading ladies, dancers, comedians, etc., in all stages of dress and undress who had been aroused by his noisy departure a few seconds before and were bent on not being left. To make sure none were forgotten he returned to the hotel, deciding, incidentally, to say a few words to the clerk—who could not be found. Four cowboys were having a "rolling high" poker game. They asked what the trouble was, were told, and then, raising a buffalo robe from their laps on which they had been betting high, disclosed the poor clerk being used as a table. They explained that he was the only "flat thing" they could find, and as he was sound asleep they used him. A heavy laugh followed, several big drinks went the same way, and Mr. Hilton just caught the last platform of the last car and went on his way. If the clerk ever woke up or yet remains a "dead card" he never learned.

The following appears in the last Printers' Advertiser, published in Boston, and which shows the active part which it is taking in the advertising world:

Mr. Charles F. Jones, New York.
Dear Sir—I enclose a few of my latest ads. Please spare me a few minutes to express my opinion of them.

Being comparatively an amateur in advertising, I am anxious for an opinion of my work by an older man in the business. I have been very much interested in Printer's Ink for the past six months (never saw a copy before that), and it, or rather you, have been the cause of my changing this store's ads from the burrah, bombastic style to a more subdued, former dark, heavy borders have been changed for the lighter outline style. The large ad included is about the size of our regular Sunday ad. Sometimes we have two-thirds of a page and sometimes a full page. The small ads are special sales which we run at the beginning of every season until we run out of the right kind of stuff. After that we usually run two small ads (from 20 to 40 inches) during the week, and one large ad (from 40 to 60 inches) at the end of the week. In the evening paper we usually have two 4-inch ads per week, occasionally more. We do not have an ad every day in either of the papers. The advertising appropriation is so limited that I can't advertise every day with a 4-inch ad, and I prefer two 4-inch ads to six 4-inch ads. The newspaper is the best place for the main part of our large ads must be set in type.

Please give your opinion of my manner of placing the ads, of the manner in which they are written, and the general appearance and display. Respectfully,

The advertisements which were included with this letter were fairly good display and wording. The ads of this alone would attract attention, and they have the appearance of being put together with a great deal of care. The illustrations are very nice, except that one or two of them are a little too black for use in the ordinary newspaper, although in the Wichita Daily Eagle, in which they appear, they are very nice. I think this is a very good way for a dry goods store to set its illustrations where it has not the facilities at hand to make them up for its own use. If you cannot have first-class ads made in your own town, then buy them from some place where they can make them first-class. There is only one criticism that I can make about the advertisements mentioned above, and that is they are a little too long-winded. The talk is good enough, but there is too much of it. If it were cut down to one-third the amount and more prices quoted, I believe the advertisements would be still better. Short-pointed wording in any kind of an advertisement, particularly in a general store's advertisement, is the thing to be aimed at. It must be a very, very interesting story to deserve a long talk of two or three hundred words.
